THANK-YOU!

FOR HELPING US MAKE STRONGER FAMILIES AND STRONGER COMMUNITIES.

LIVE UNITED

United Way of Greater Union County
Dear Friends,

Meeting unexpected challenges. These are the words that would best describe this past year and we can honestly report we were challenged and tested in so many ways. In true United Way fashion, we worked together for the common good as we met so many unexpected challenges, with the resolve and support of our partners and friends. Our focus on strengthening families did not waver.

The infamous Hurricane Sandy took its toll on so many families and communities, to this day, we continue to spearhead efforts to support those still struggling to gain a sense of normalcy in their lives. Our efforts were very successful as many of our partners and philanthropists believed we were the organization best suited to meet this challenge. We raised over $377,000 through the Hurricane Sandy Community Relief Fund Campaign and were able to assist families who were not normally part of our strengthening initiatives. We also collaborated with several community partners and helped to establish the Union County Long-Term Recovery Fund to assist residents who continue to struggle as a direct result of the hurricane.

Understanding our challenges. This year we debuted the findings of our long-awaited community needs assessment. The assessment underscores our most critical challenges and clearly identifies 10 “communities of concern” where we must target our work and continue to practice our motto of Stronger Families = Stronger Communities.

Strengthening families. Together, we provided families and individuals the tools they needed to reach stability in their lives. Our Family Success Centers, as well as our strategic partners, remain a tremendous asset in working with over 800 families this past year. Our family strengthening initiatives include the work of 55 community partners who provided comprehensive services to over 15,000 individuals.

The economic downturn clearly eroded the building blocks of strong families. Mounting home foreclosures and evictions ripple throughout our County. Consequently, when families weaken our community weakens. This past year, we assisted at-risk families by providing over $200,000 in emergency response funds to a select group of community partners in the following communities (Elizabeth, Hillside, Linden, Rahway, Plainfield, Summit, New Providence and Union). Emergency Response funds are cash disbursements made to families with children facing an emergency, related to housing, utilities, childcare, food and other crisis situations. In the short term, we stabilized families by finding ways for them to stay in their homes, afford utilities or make sure they had enough food. In the long term, we worked with policy makers and advocated for more affordable housing options and good paying jobs.

Our family strengthening initiatives remain focused on the three key areas of education, income and health. By focusing our resources and initiatives on these areas, we can identify the best ways to meet the needs of our communities. For example, this past year we worked with the Nurse Family Partnership program and helped low-income, first-time mothers access prenatal care and learn how to care for their newborns. We empowered young girls, through the “Girls Today, Leaders Tomorrow” initiative, to become leaders among their peers and in their communities. Additionally, we’ve helped a child return to school after brain surgery, we’ve helped formerly incarcerated fathers gain employment and support their children, and we’ve helped parents find and keep their jobs while providing child care for their children. These are just a few of the many examples of the work we’ve done.

Working Together for the Common Good. We remain highly confident that our work and initiatives ensure the success of families. The strategies we use to meet those challenges work well for our communities. Armed with extensive data and lessons learned, we understand what it takes to strengthen families and what approaches we must apply to best meet the needs of each community and its residents.

In the coming year we will begin educating our stakeholders and convening those who must participate in solving issues within our communities. As a direct result of the Community Needs Assessment study and panel discussion, we will conduct “Community Conversations” with key stakeholders such as policy makers, government officials, funders, residents, business owners and family advocates. We have accomplished much but still have much to do.

We would especially like to thank our investors, partners, board members, and our dedicated team, who have placed their belief in the work we do and have helped us continue to strengthen families.

We hope this report serves as confirmation to our supporters that your investment in us yielded positive social returns.

We thank you all for your continued support in our journey.

OUR FOCUS: FAMILY STRENGTHENING
United Way of Greater Union County’s goal is to improve lives and change conditions in our community by strengthening families; strong families are the foundation of a strong community.

“Family Strengthening” ensures that everyone in Greater Union County has the necessary opportunities, relationships and networks to support the success of their family. We focus on Family Strengthening by advancing Education, Income and Health throughout one’s journey from Birth to Adulthood.

EDUCATION

Education is the foundation of a good life, setting an individual on a path of personal fulfillment and economic security.

FACT: 32% of the children in Union County, ages 3-5, are not enrolled in nursery school, preschool or kindergarten.¹

United Way of Greater Union County’s efforts in education focus on children from birth to age 18. UWGUC works to ensure that children in our community begin school, ready to learn. We support efforts to help students experience academic success so they can graduate from high school on time and continue to succeed as young adults.

INCOME

Adequate income to pay for today’s necessities and save for the future, provides a family with financial stability and independence.

FACT: It is estimated that, in Union County, two adults with a preschool child needs to make over $55,000 to be considered self-sufficient. If they have two preschool children, they need to make over $69,000.²

United Way of Greater Union County’s funded programs help people build the job skills and knowledge necessary for them to attain financial independence and stability. We are committed to helping close the economic gap by creating a community where everyone has the opportunity to find safe and affordable housing; the skills and training needed to succeed in a decent paying job; and the means to be self-sufficient.

HEALTH

Good health improves a child’s opportunity to learn, increases an adult’s productivity at work and enhances the quality of life.

FACT: It is estimated that 22.4% of Union County’s population is either uninsured or underinsured.³

United Way of Greater Union County’s funded programs provides training to first time mothers teaching them parenting skills, the importance of pre-natal check-ups as well as providing mentorship to help raise a healthy child. United Way invests in programs that provide some of our most vulnerable residents with the support they need to achieve or maintain good health.

OUR MISSION

The mission of United Way of Greater Union County is to ensure the health and human service needs of the community are identified and addressed in ways that create a better quality of life for the residents of Greater Union County.

SUPPORTING THE JOURNEY FROM BIRTH TO ADULTHOOD

All children need Family, Community Connection, Resources and Support across life domains to succeed.

EARLY CHILDHOOD SUCCESS
Infants & Toddlers / Early Learners (AGES: 0-8)

GOAL: All young children will be safe, healthy and ready to learn, as they enter and engage in school.

POSITIVE YOUTH DEVELOPMENT
School Age Children (AGES: 9-16)

GOAL: All school age children and youth will live in a permanent home, be in school and on track (involved in age appropriate activities) and connected to their community.

TRANSITION TO ADULTHOOD
Adolescent / Young Adults (AGES: 17-26)

GOAL: Youth transitioning to adulthood will be on a positive pathway to economic independence, as well as developing strong, responsible, family and community relationships.
The Union County Family Strengthening Network (UCFSN) is a unique public–private partnership between United Way of Greater Union County, businesses, government, schools, faith-based and non-profit organizations, and foundations. The Union County Family Strengthening Network (UCFSN) partners work to break down barriers for families, and create opportunities to ensure that every child succeeds every step of the way from birth to adulthood.

ANCHOR PARTNERS

An anchor partner has deep roots in its community. An anchor partner is a multi-service organization providing critical services associated with supporting families and children along the continuum of care from birth to adulthood.

COMMUNITY RESOURCE PARTNERS

United Way of Greater Union County partners with non-profits and government agencies throughout the county to help deliver the human services our community needs. Over 55 organizations have joined our Community Resource Network, each filling a vital role connecting individuals and families of Union County, North Plainfield and South Plainfield to the support they need.

Community Resource Network members work to support families and individuals by building a continuum of care – providing critical services ranging from pre-natal health classes to strengthening the life skills of the families in our community. The Network helps the people in our community build a stronger support system, assists them through crises and works with them to create long-term stability and self-sufficiency for their families.

FAMILY STRENGTHENING
NETWORK PROVIDED SERVICES
The Connection for Women and Families

Last year, a family of three moved from Costa Rica to Summit, NJ and enrolled their son, Jacob, into a Summit Elementary School. Jacob began the first grade and received special services for his learning disabilities. However, within months, Jacob’s mother suddenly left and went back to Costa Rica leaving Jacob and his father. Unfortunately, Jacob began exhibiting difficulties and emotional stress due to the sudden departure of his mother. Problems were exacerbated by lack of after-school care and lack of access to homework assistance, causing Jacob to have difficulties with his schoolwork.

The Connection immediately provided Jacob with a scholarship to its after-school enrichment program conveniently located at Jacob’s school, which he now attends five days a week. The sudden absence of Jacob’s mother took a toll on him emotionally, but a Connection staff member, who is also a certified teacher, took special interest in Jacob and worked with him closely, to adjust to the changes. The teacher helped Jacob with his homework and encouraged him to become more involved with his peers and make new friends. As a result, Jacob has adjusted quite well, loves the after-school program, and is excelling in school. Gratefully, his father was able to retain his job and continue supporting them both.

The Connection for Women and Families provides after-school enrichment and homework assistance for over 135 children, of working parents, from four Summit schools. They provide a variety of programs for over 5,000 women, men, and children. The Connection has a variety of programs including aquatics, comprehensive fitness for adults, performing arts, special needs classes for all ages, and Red Cross classes. In addition, the Scholarship Fund assures that everyone can participate in the programs and services regardless of economic circumstance.

Overlook Hospital’s Project Independence

Established to help families in New Jersey work through outpatient therapy and mental health issues, Family Service at Overlook Hospital and Project Independence serves over 1,041 people annually. There are many stories of patients overcoming serious disease and physical trauma to achieve triumph and success in reintegrating into their lives.

Ten-year-old Luis, diagnosed with fluid on the brain, had to undergo surgery. He struggled through several months of intense therapy and a very difficult recovery. Overlook Hospital connected his mother, Margaret, with a caseworker through its Project Independence, and helped her make the decision to home-school Luis until he was well enough to re-enter school. Margaret received counseling and training on how to care for her son’s medical needs at home. Both Luis and his mother are now doing well and Luis has since returned to elementary school.
YWCA of Union County

Mary, who is Spanish-speaking, went to the shelter with her two teenaged children, a boy and a girl, in an attempt to flee her abusive husband. They had been married for 13 years, during which the abuse escalated from verbal to pushing and shoving.

Eventually, the violence became more intense and he threatened the lives of Mary and her two children (the daughter was from a previous relationship, the son was his). She was referred to the Emergency Shelter when her husband was pulled over in a traffic stop with the entire family in the car. He had been traveling at an extremely high rate of speed in an attempt to kill Mary, the children and himself.

While living at the shelter Mary was able to acquire legal services through the Legal Representation Program. She obtained a final restraining order and her husband was removed from their home. She was assisted by staff in obtaining TANF, Medicaid and food stamps. She received counseling from the residential counselor and the children received counseling from the children’s counselor.

Mary stayed in the shelter for 3 weeks and once her husband was removed from the home, she was able to safely return. Her daughter, age 16, had to leave her job suddenly when they entered the shelter. With the assistance of an advocate, her absence was explained and she was able to return to her job.

As with all clients, Mary and her children created a safety plan with the assistance a shelter advocate. Now, with the support of her family, Mary is currently seeking employment. Before returning home, she and her children wrote letters of thanks to the shelter staff.

Cranford Family Care

In August of 2013, Cranford Family Care received a telephone call from a resident who is a single mom to a six-year-old. She was worried because she had received a Civil Action Summons for eviction, for non-payment of two months rent, caused by the unfortunate loss of two jobs, one immediately after the other. She and her daughter were living very basic and she was really afraid of what the future held.

She came for an intake interview and to fill out an application for rental assistance. After speaking with the agency director, she was encouraged to try to get her life back on track. The board agreed to pay the two months rent to resolve her eviction, in addition to two shut-offs for gas and electricity. She was also given food and school supplies for her daughter.

Encouraged by this help and having someone to talk to, to get out her frustrations and fears, she gained the confidence to go back out in the job market and successfully gained employment.

She has since enrolled in a local college for a few night courses to complete her studies and obtain her degree. Due to the assistance and personal interaction, she was able to put her life back together and become self-sufficient.

You can make change happen with your voice. Whether you are speaking out to improve the conditions of the community, reaching out to local or state government or wearing your LIVE UNITED t-shirt to show your support. You can help inspire hope and create opportunities for a better tomorrow. Be visible. Be loud.

You can give at the office, through your employer’s workplace campaign, respond to our direct mail solicitation or go online to www.uwguc.org/give, or participate in our mobile giving campaign by texting “UWGUC” to 50555 to donate $10.00 to United Way of Greater Union County.

We all have special talents. Things we can do to help. When we reach out a hand to one, we influence the condition of all. As a volunteer, you make a direct, hands-on contribution to the community. Contact United Way of Greater Union County at 908-353-7171 for more information on volunteer projects.
This year was truly a remarkable experience serving as Campaign Chairman and helping meet the so many difficult challenges we faced. I am extremely grateful for having had the opportunity to work with so many dedicated people who not only contributed but also volunteered their time to such a worthy cause.

As a Board member and donor, I have seen the benefits of our approach to strengthening families and building stronger communities. Contributing to United Way of Greater Union County is one of the best ways for business owners, residents, and corporate employees to invest in the community where we live and work. In addition to engaging in donor campaigns, United Way also mobilizes a team of campaign volunteers who continually strive to raise the funds needed by many of the organizations who are part of the health and human services partnership.

Having had the distinct honor of leading as Campaign Chair, I appreciate the dedication and commitment of every member of the Campaign Cabinet. As a team, we are very proud to report that over 150 companies participated in workplace campaigns and we would like to extend a heartfelt thank you to the employee Campaign Coordinators who made their campaigns highly successful.

Most notably, during the time when Hurricane Sandy put excessive strain on everyone’s time and efforts, our supporters truly rose to the occasion and contributions swelled as the outpouring of generosity canvassed our community.

I would like to extend a personal thank you to the thousands of donors, companies, private foundations, volunteers, and community partners as well as government entities who committed to helping improve the conditions in Union County, North Plainfield and South Plainfield.

It has truly been an amazing experience, one I will never forget.

UNITED WAY LEADERSHIP GIVING SOCIETY

United Way’s Leadership Giving Society was created to recognize members of our community who demonstrate an exceptional commitment to helping others.

These influential leaders provide inspiration and motivation for others to take pride in caring for our community. They understand that like any investment, the benefits extend far into the future. The people helped through their generous gifts, in turn, affect our communities in the years to come.

List current as of September 1, we regret any errors or omissions.
Last year we endured one of the worst super storms of our time and with it came the knowledge that natural disasters can affect all of us despite our different life circumstances. So many families were placed in a vulnerable position and struggled with the shock of losing their homes. Whole neighborhoods were displaced and with that knowledge came the awful truth that our vulnerabilities are real and can affect anyone at any given time.

In immediate response to the needs of those hardest hit by the storm, United Way of Greater Union County launched the Hurricane Sandy Community Relief Fund in early November 2012. The awareness and fundraising campaign raised over $377,000 with the support of corporate partners such as NuStar Foundation, Greehey Family Foundation, Linde North America, Inc. as well as numerous individual donors. With the generous support of our corporate donors, we were able to provide special consideration to those communities hardest hit.

To ensure the funds were used for relief efforts, we invited organizations to submit requests for support to cover gaps not covered by service organizations, government programs or insurance. The relief funds were designated for items such as, but not limited to, food, household sanitizing supplies, diapers, infant formula, school supplies, and winter clothes. Funds were also used for emergency relief such as rental/mortgage payments, utility payments, transportation passes, prescriptions, medical supplies, and/or legal assistance.

Funds targeted the worst hit communities including parts of Elizabeth and Plainfield as well as all of Linden and Rahway.

Subsequently, we met with Mayors to conduct long-term planning which resulted in the establishment of the Union County Long-Term Recovery Group (UCLTR Group).

The mission of the UCLTR Group is to monitor and meet the continuing needs of Super Storm Victims. UWGUC serves as the UCLTR Group’s fiduciary agent. In September 2013, the Group commissioned World Review who will conduct surveys and collect data regarding the needs of Sandy victims still working to regain losses as a result of the storm.
In preparation to the start of the school year, United Way of Greater Union County (UWGUC), “Stuffed the Bus” and delivered over 500 backpacks filled with school supplies to students from pre-k through 12.

As part of our mission to strengthen families, we invited our corporate partners, and their employees, to submit donations of school supplies, to contribute to the successful academic achievement of children throughout Union County, North Plainfield, and South Plainfield.

A very special partner, Villani Bus Company, provided door-to-door service by donating the use of a school bus for an entire day. The bus, equipped with a driver and a full tank of gas, transported UWGUC staff and volunteers to each recipient organization to distribute the “Ready-to-Learn” backpacks.

There was great joy and excitement exhibited, as the bus arrived at each distribution location. Children were selected from United Way partner organizations serving low-income families, to ensure they received the necessary tools to successfully start the school year.

Recipient Organizations: Elizabeth Coalition to House the Homeless - Communities in Cooperation - Hillside-Hope, Inc - Homefirst - Jefferson Park Ministries - Plainfield Board of Education-Family Success Center - Proceed, Inc. - Prevention Links - Roselle Collaborative - The Connection

United Way Distributes 10,000 books donated by Scholastic, Inc.

During the summer of 2013, United Way of Greater Union County received a gracious, in-kind donation of more than 10,000 books from Scholastic, Inc.

Due to the sizeable amount, Elizabeth Councilman, Carlos Torres graciously permitted UWGUC to store the books at his place of business—Sea Lion Shipping, located in Elizabeth, NJ. This act of kindness granted UWGUC time to identify schools and community organizations most in need of book donations of this magnitude.

The intent was to promote summer reading and literacy to families affected by Super Storm Sandy. The more than 10,000 books were ultimately donated on July 17th to middle school districts throughout Union County including Elizabeth, Plainfield, Hillside, and Rahway.
LEND YOUR MUSCLE. FIND YOUR VOICE

Advocacy is a fundamental part of United Way of Greater Union County’s work and is essential to help us achieve our mission and goals. We engage in several advocacy initiatives and, most notably, work with stakeholders who can influence the conditions of communities.

Recognizing there are decision-makers who we must engage and partner with in providing education, income, health and human services to our communities, we attempt to influence budget decisions made by our public servants, and act on behalf of those served by many critical programs necessary to create stronger communities.

In the Fall of 2012, United Way of Greater Union County (UWGUC), concluded its Union County Needs Assessment Study as part of an on-going effort to monitor community conditions and identify emerging or chronic health and human service needs.

Our strategy is to utilize the Community Needs Assessment report and “spread the word” of its findings, to help build a consensus among key government officials, network partners, advocates, and citizens who have the resources to help us. We believe, by engaging key stakeholders in productive dialogue, we will be able to influence public policy and implement a realistic plan of action.

Community Needs Assessment

Collective Impact Modeling to Target “Communities of Concern”

One of the primary roles of United Way of Greater Union County is to monitor the conditions of our communities, determine emerging social needs and to address those needs with as much impact as possible using limited resources. It is critically important for us to identify issues that emerge as a result of families living in poverty.

Utilizing a Collective Impact model, we recognize large-scale social change requires broad cross-sector coordination, not isolated intervention of individual organizations. Collective Impact Initiatives are long-term commitments, by a group of important actors from different sectors, to a common agenda for solving a specific social problem. Their actions are supported by a shared measurement system, mutually reinforcing activities, and ongoing communication, and are staffed by an independent backbone organization.

Identifying Communities of Concern

In partnership with Rutgers School of Social Work and funded by the Nicholson Foundation, in the fall of 2012, UWGUC, concluded its Union County Needs Assessment Study. The study is part of UWGUC’s on-going effort to monitor community conditions and identify emerging or chronic health and human service needs.

The study’s results are based on an analysis from a variety of national, state, and local data and input from community-based focus groups. The study provided us with a wealth of information to address a number of community issues, three recurring themes resonate as areas of critical concern to strengthening families:

- The lack of access to affordable quality care and education, for children and youth, lead to educational disparities in our community.
- High rates of unemployment and stagnant income, coupled with the high cost of living, are a burden to families, especially, the most vulnerable, at-risk, and working poor.
- Disparities in access to health services in our community due to either high cost of care, lack of insurance, or lack of available services, negatively impact the overall health and well being of families, children and youth.

Armed with data and a clear understanding of the problem causing stress factors within Greater Union County, UWGUC has identified “Communities of Concern.” A total of ten (10) communities, served by UWGUC, have been identified and are characterized by poor school performance, high poverty rates, and less access to health care services: all issues that weaken families.

There are two communities with extremely entrenched challenges: Elizabeth and Plainfield. By entrenched we mean social issues have not improved and the data suggests they will deepen and become harder to overcome. An additional seven (7) communities have been identified as having emerging needs and must be addressed before they become communities with entrenched challenges. These communities include Hillside, Linden, Union, North Plainfield, Rahway, Roselle, and Roselle Park. Finally, although small and not an entire town, there is one census block located in Summit which has emerging needs.

These communities are where UWGUC must strategically target its efforts and serve as premiere advocates for those most in need.

Special Consideration
Union County has a fairly large Latin American population composed of many countries; according to the data presented in the 2012 community needs assessment study on the county’s population. The study also revealed that 30% of residents are born abroad and 42% speak a language other than English. According to the data, international migration netted Union County 7,597 new residents in the past two years, while domestic migration represented about a 6,627-person net loss. Many immigrants are coming from Central and South America, specifically El Salvador, Guatemala and Colombia, as well as a growing Puerto Rican population.

The Community Needs Assessment provides evidence that Union County is an area of concern for its growing Latino population. According to the data, Latin American immigrants are the fastest growing group in Union County. As a result, UWGUC has identified 10 ‘Communities of Concern’ in the county where they can provide services and programs that will help meet the needs of these communities.

Highly Anticipated Community Needs Assessment Debuts in Spring 2013
Experts Discuss the Data and Make Policy Recommendations

Continuing our work as community advocates, in the spring of 2013, Union Way of Greater Union County revealed its list of 10 ‘Communities of Concern’ using data that demonstrates the conditions and needs of families living in poverty in Union County.

UWGUC convened a panel of experts and held policy discussions regarding its Communities Needs Assessment Study. The debut of the study was held at Kean University’s Stem Building Auditorium in Union, NJ. The panelists, who are distinguished leaders in their fields, provided commentary on the major stress factors that cause ‘Communities of Concern’ and made policy recommendations for UWGUC to use in helping to strengthen families and communities.

Our strength as a United Way is educating our stakeholders and convening those who must participate in solving issues within our communities. As a direct result of the study, debut, and panel discussion, we have begun to conduct “Community Conversations.”

Thus far, we have met with ten anchor organizations within the “Communities of Concern.” Anchor organizations are direct service organizations that have a unique and thorough understanding of their communities, families and residents. The Anchor Organizations historically and consistently provide programs and services that meet the needs of their communities.

Considered United Way partners, we have discussed the problems and specifically identified the programs and services that would have the most impact in strengthening families.

In conclusion, our goals for 2013-2014 are to lead the impact in meeting challenges of these communities and work toward creating a Collective Impact Group. This group will be those who can participate in meeting the challenges of “Communities of Concern.”
In late May of 2013, United Way of Greater Union County and NJ for Haiti launched a fundraising campaign to provide 800 million gallons of free, clean water to Haiti for the next 25 years, through the Haiti Lives On initiative.

The plan is to distribute four solar powered water purification systems to some of the most densely populated areas in the country, including Carrefour, the epicenter of the 7.0 earthquake that ravaged the small country over three-years ago.

Each water-purification system, the Solar Mobil MaxPure, has the capacity to produce 30,000 gallons of fresh water each day at a cost of less than one penny per gallon. The mobile self-powered system does not require a connection to an electric grid or any kind of fossil fuel. The unit also provides power to run lights, computers and other electronic equipment. The Solar Mobil MaxPure requires very little maintenance, can last up to 25 years, and purifies water from various sources including wells, lakes, and the ocean.

The Haiti Lives On movement and supporters hope to eradicate health problems due to the lack of clean water. By meeting this basic need, cholera and other sicknesses derived from poor water quality would be eliminated and subsequently the quality of life will significantly improve for thousands of Haitians.

The Learning Mi Way program utilizes professional artists from Yearning to Learn (a non-profit arts education organization) to bring arts experiences to Union County childcare centers. Programs are provided on a weekly basis during the school year for children ages 3-5 years old. During their residencies, artists provide education through music, movement, dramatic storytelling, visual and performing arts to students, teachers and parents.

The workshops are designed to immerse students into an artistic environment that promotes higher-order thinking, cooperative learning, and problem-solving skills. Exercising these skills through the arts help students gain creativity.

In addition, the instructors also gain invaluable skills such as learning to engage students according to each child’s learning style. Teachers also learn practical strategies for connecting to each student as well as capacity building skills to continue teaching using this Multiple Intelligence Art form.

United Way of Greater Union County contracts with Yearning to Learn to design and implement the program to incorporate music, movement, visual and performing arts.

Learning Mi Way uses various modes of expression and includes the value of creative learning through storytelling and dramatic movement, vocalization in association with stories, poetry, and call and response. These exercises are proven methods of improving self-esteem and self-expression. The exercises encourage creativity in the way children learn to read, learn their colors, and learn letter recognition and sound recognition. The ultimate goal of the program is to better prepare children for success in academics.

This program is key to United Way of Greater Union County’s mission to act as a catalyst and change agent to address the root causes of social problems and support the needs of families. This project is designed to better prepare children’s pre-literacy skills and is a preventative approach to avoid academic failure.
Linden “Youth For United Way,” LIVE UNITED!

In 1991, United Way of Greater Union County formed a partnership with Linden High School to form Youth for United Way, whose mission, through service-learning, offered students a unique opportunity to involve themselves with community service projects. Twenty-two years later, the students, freshmen through senior grade levels, have actively kept the mission of the program going strong.

The dedication and consistency of the volunteer efforts from Youth for United Way students, set the foundation for beginning their nationally recognized, Learn and Serve America program, that acknowledged them as a New Jersey Service Learning Leader School and national recognition by the White House and Congress in 2000.

Esther Paden, Linden teacher and Program Coordinator of Linden Youth for United Way, has continued to rally the participants in organizing several drives this year, which included collecting gifts, clothing, and food for homeless women and children during the holiday season.

In true “LIVE UNITED” form, the students distributed these gifts to three county homeless shelters for women and children who were victims of domestic violence.

Junior Ambassadors Organize Celebration of Womanhood Conference

Beginning late fall, United Way of Greater Union County (UWGUC) selects a group of thirty (30) girls, in the at-risk age range of 13 to 17, to participate in a series of “Junior Ambassador”(JA) leadership training workshops. During the workshop sessions, the JAs are guided as they research and design a core curriculum pertaining to the empowerment of young girls. This curriculum culminates into the planning and implementation of the Celebration of Womanhood Conference (COWC), now in it’s fifth year of being facilitated by UWGUC.

On May 11th 2013, over 300 girls attended the Celebration of Womanhood Conference, which featured distinguished presenters such as television talk show host, Wendy Williams; actress, Kim Coles; beauty business guru, Jane Carter and Fox 5 news personality, Ines Rosales, just to name a few.

UWGUC and program funder, New Jersey Governor’s Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention committee (administered by the NJ Juvenile Justice Commission), were very pleased with the results! The JAs planned and executed a highly successful conference and acquired team building and leadership skills while providing insight into the empowerment needs of themselves and their peers.

News 12 NJ Anchor, Della Crews, provided extensive coverage of the conference and later interviewed three (3) of the JA’s, on her show, Spotlight NJ. The JA’s shared their thoughts on what it meant to participate in the workshops and plan the conference. They also expressed the impact the conference presenters and all those involved, have made on their lives. The segment aired several times over the course of summer months. The girls enthusiasm was overwhelmingly positive.

This program provides training to girls from Atlantic, Camden, Cumberland, Gloucester, Hunterdon, Mercer, Middlesex, Monmouth, Ocean, Somerset and Union Counties.
Celebration of
WOMENHOOD
Unique & Empowered: The Upcoming of Young Phenomenal Women
On Saturday, May 11, 2013, United Way of Greater Union County (UWGUC) hosted the 4th annual “Celebration of Womanhood” conference at Kean University.

UWGUC was the recipient of a grant funded by The New Jersey Governor's Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention (JJDP) Committee, administered by the New Jersey Juvenile Justice Commission and was also presented with the Connie Strand Award for Program Excellence, for successful facilitation of the conference.

More than 300 girls in the at-risk age range of 13-17 from Atlantic, Camden, Cumberland, Gloucester, Hunterdon, Mercer, Middlesex, Monmouth, Ocean, Somerset and Union Counties attended the event.

Renowned celebrity and television talk show host, Wendy Williams, served as keynote speaker. “It was a great experience for me to be a speaker at this conference. There were so many impressive speakers like judges and businesswomen. We were speaking to girls on the brink, you know the ones who can go either way, and I was glad to be a part of the day with the girls!”

Also in attendance as a special guest speaker was actress Kim Coles. Ms. Coles spoke about her views and personal perspectives on life by sharing candid stories of her own journey as a young woman. “In my personal quest, I found there indeed was more inside me I wanted to share. I realized I could be using my personal GIFTS more fully.”

The workshop presenters also told their stories of setting life’s goals and overcoming adversities, and gave advice on how to succeed in life.

The advice offered from both the keynote speakers and workshop presenters served as an opportunity to help the young women learn more about themselves and help maximize their life choices.

The remainder of the day consisted of a variety of workshops covering topics designed to empower young women and provide them with the resources needed to make responsible decisions. Conference topics included: healthy lifestyles, relationships, goals and visions, positive body image and self-esteem, etiquette and professionalism just to name a few.

Prior to the conference, 30 girls were selected as Junior Ambassadors and met monthly for a series of structured workshops over a period of 6 months. The Junior Ambassadors received leadership training and were charged with the task of developing the curriculum and agenda for the one-day conference.

This year, three of the 30 original Junior Ambassadors who helped plan and coordinate the conference were invited to appear and participate in an interview on Spotlight New Jersey, a News 12 television show hosted by news anchor, Della Crews. During the interview, they each spoke about their personal growth as leaders since joining the program, and were particularly enthusiastic about Wendy Williams’ comments and the opportunity they were afforded to meet her.

UWGUC received a great deal of positive media coverage and was invited to attend The Wendy Williams Show as a part of her live audience!

A sincere Thank you to our Celebration of Womanhood Sponsors: Comcast-NBC Universal, AGL Resources/Elizabethtown Gas, Ernst & Young, County of Union, NJ
Honoring those who have done exemplary work in the Health and Human Services community was the focus of our annual Celebration Gala. This event took place on Thursday, June 6, 2013, at the Shackamaxon Country Club, Scotch Plains, NJ.

We honored the leadership, support, and contributions of our partners, who were all determined to make progress in improving the conditions of those who are most effected by poverty, limited access to health care, affordable housing and lack of decent educational opportunities.

Not only was the event a show of support for the honorees and their work, but it is also an opportunity to bring together our diverse group of corporate partners, municipalities, non-profit organizations and contributors, as well as many community members who benefit from UWGUC work and support. The Gala encourages community leaders to celebrate the successes of the prior years’ campaign and to highlight extraordinary individuals and corporations for their ingenuity and commitment to United Way’s campaigns and invoking its philosophy of “Live United.”

The 2013 Honorees’ include a number of established philanthropists, accomplished public servants as well as companies that exhibited extraordinary commitment to helping Union County through workplace campaign participation.

A special Thank-You to our Celebration! sponsors.
United Way of Greater Union County’s (UWGUC) held its Annual Golf Classic on August 5, 2013 at the premier golf courses of Canoe Brook Country Club in Summit, NJ.

Canoe Brook has played host to the U.S. Open Sectional Qualifiers, the U.S. Women’s Amateur Championship, the New Jersey State Amateur Golf Championship, the American Junior Golf Tournament, and the British Open International Final Qualifying America.

It was a perfect day for golf as over 80 supporters and sponsors walked the greens, golfed, and enjoyed an entire day in a beautiful country club setting, benefitting United Way of Greater Union County’s Family Strengthening Initiative.

Stephen Baker, a former NFL New York Giants team member who is known as “the Touchdown Maker,” was the day’s special celebrity guest. He made the event particularly memorable by graciously posing with attendees for individual photographs. Mr. Baker also donated an autographed football to the silent auction. Many attendees commented on how much they enjoyed Mr. Baker’s friendly demeanor and the events activities including the delicious buffet lunch, dinner, and cocktail hour, as well as the silent auction.

Over 64 golfers attended the classic and raised over 45,000 in funds through sponsorships, player packages and the silent auction.

A sincere thank-you to our Golf Classic Sponsors:

NEXT STEPS:
Meeting the Challenge for 2013-14

Year in Review
United Way of Greater Union County focused on several areas, including:
- Debut of the Community Needs Assessment
- Strengthening agency relationships and community relationships
- Identifying emerging issues within Communities of Concern
- Strengthening Families
- Issuing Emergency Response Funds

UWGUC has found alternative ways to build relationships with our partner agencies, such as sharing community and program data, identifying a successful “Cradle to Career Success” model, and providing linkages between agencies. These linkages allow for increase referrals for services through the Union County Community Resource Network while using less funding.

What’s Next? Community Conversations
To date, we have held “Community Conversations” with ten anchor partners to discuss problems identified in “Communities of Concern” and begin to formulate strategies for providing services.

United Way of Greater Union County will continue to convene policy makers, direct service providers, state and local governments, corporate leadership, community advocates, and other stakeholders who will be helpful in designing policies and programs that address the needs of families and communities alike.

Our goals for 2013-2014 are to lead the Collective Impact Initiative through several key strategies, including:
- Increase collaboration and networking among specific direct service providers who serve families in need
- Strengthen our partnerships with member agencies and enhance their capacity to serve families in need
- Developing positive engaging relationships with nontraditional partners
- Strengthen communities by addressing critical community issues

NEED HELP....DIAL 2-1-1

United Way’s free telephone and web referral service connects residents to the resources they need. This service is confidential and available 24 hours-a-day / 7 days a week, in more than 150 languages. 2-1-1’s comprehensive database details resources such as state and federal programs; energy assistance programs sponsored by energy providers; non-profit organizations that have made it their mission to help fulfill an unmet need; and local community resources. Dial 2-1-1 from any phone or visit the website at www.nj211.org.

On any given day 2-1-1 offers access to:

- Resources for Basic Human Needs: food banks, clothing, shelters, rent assistance, affordable housing, utility assistance
- Physical and Mental Health Resources: medical information lines, crisis intervention services, support groups, counseling, drug and alcohol intervention, rehabilitation, health insurance programs, Medicaid and Medicare, maternal health, children’s health insurance programs
- Employment Support: unemployment benefits, financial assistance, job training, transportation assistance, education programs
- Support for Older Americans and Persons with Disabilities: home health care, adult day care, Meals on Wheels, respite care, transportation and homemaker services
- Support for Children, Youth and Families: Quality childcare, after school programs, Head Start, family resource centers, summer camps and recreation programs, mentoring, tutoring, protective services
- Volunteer opportunities and donations
